SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17.

The attitude of the Republican party of New Mexico has always been consistent on the question of the admission of the territory as a state. We favored the admission of the territory when the Democratic party was united in their opposition against it. We still favor its admission, believing that there is no good and substantial reason for keeping us out of the Union as a state and believe that this can best be accomplished by the election of a delegate to congress who is in harmony with Republican politics and principles.—Republican Platform, New Mexico, 1898.

General Grant said, "Let us have peace." Well, we have got it again, everybody being happy but Spain, and greater even than the problem of effecting that peace are the perplexing questions of how to make the best uses of it.

The National Civil Service Association has discovered a mare's nest and are after the president with a sharp stick. However, Mr. McKinley will probably survive the shock occasioned by the passage of condemnatory resolutions passed by that organization.

Since the fight over renewing the franchises held by street railways has come up in that city, Chicago is inclined to put on airs and claim possession of all the distionest aldermen in the countrp. If such were the fact, the other cities in the country would be more than willing to accord that honor to the big town on the lake, but-

The sultan of Turkey has given assurances to the United States minister at Constantinople that all differences between the two countries will be speedily adjusted, including the payment of an indemnity for American losses in Armenia. The sultan has probably heard the fate of turkey in the United States every Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The quietness which pervades "Coin' Havvéy's headquarters concerning that $156,000,000 campaign fund for 1900, indicates that the gentleman is either so busy receiving contributions that he has no time to take the public into his confidence or that the scheme has proven such a flat failure that it is painful for him to mention it. Now, which is it?

Admiral Dewey is not frightened by any shadows of trouble which may be hovering over Manila and the Philippines. He feels able, with the fleet now at his disposal, to take care of the interests of the United States, no matter what may happen. When he returns home he will learn that in the eyes of the Americans he "is all right."

Spain is still building hopes on the rejection of the treaty between the United States and that country by the senate. "Castles in Spain" are often dreamed of, but seldom found. The Madrid government will save time by preparing all the necessary papers ceding the territory mentioned in the treaty, at once. There will be no hitch in the program on this side of the water.

cloth and ashes and will not be comforted. The Prince of Wales has an nounced that he has no intention of visiting the United States the coming summer, or at any other time for that matter. The Springs had been counting on a visit from 'is royal 'ighness, and was already preparing for the honor to be conferred, quietly. Some of the disappointments in this life are terrible.

General Wood is making a splendid governor of the province of Santiago de Cuba, but one of his recent acts is liable manner when the laws are extended to to result in making trouble for him with the newspaper men on the island. He policy that can be pursued by the Unitcaused two Cuban editors to be arrested who had arranged to fight a duel. Senator Vest, of Missouri, should b more careful in the choice of words when he speaks in public. In the senate the other day he said that he would rather leave the public life immediately than to give his consent to what he terms a "wicked and fantastic plan to revolutionize the government." Mr. Vest would not do anything of the kind. The only thing which will remove him from public life of his own accord is the final dissolution of all earthly things for him, and then he will only let loose because it cannot be helped. Mr. Vest should handle the truth a little more re-

If some lunatic should attack the govhouse in which some distinguished visitor in the territory was stopping, with brickbats. New Mexico and her people would never hear the last of it. And still, the British embassy in Washington was treated to a shower of missiles the other night by a crazy man and no one thinks of declaring the nation's can ernor's residence in New Mexico, or the one thinks of declaring the nation's capital a dangerous city to live in.

Cuban Central Railroad The secretary of war has called the attention of congress toward the need of building a new line of railroad the entire length of the island of Cuba, with branch roads leading to the different cities on the coast. It ought not to be necessary to ask the inited States government to undertake this enterprise. The $20,000,000 such a road would cost ought to be forthcoming from a corporation of American ousiness men whose commercial instincts should make manifest to them the striking advantages to be derived from a railway system for Cuba It would, it is true, give employment to thousands of Cubans and teach them, as the secretary says, habits of thrift and industry, of which these people are much in need; but the main thing would be the opening up of the island to quick and ready communication, not only with the capital of Havana, but with all parts of the island, and thus be the neans of bringing more and more valuable land under cultivation, filling up noxious swamps, cutting down malarious and obstructive vegetation and making it the more easy for civilizing ing the mine and 30-stamp mill. Fully influences to reach all classes of people. The railroad is ever the harbinger of the glad tidings of enlightenment, it brings in the school house, the church, the trader and countless influences for 50,000 ton mark. The anti-annexationists or anti-im perialists, or whatever they may style themselves, are using some remarkable arguments in their efforts to make a case against the policy of annexation which the administration has undoubtedly adopted, and some of their statements are straining the truth to almost the parting point.

One of the contentions made against the retention of the islands ceded by Spain is that the president, while clearly acting within his constitutional rights regarding the new possessions, is doing so without the advice of the members of congress or ascertaining the desires of the people. Any statement made implying that the president has not learned the desires of the people of the United States regarding this matter is unwarranted and a perversion of facts.

It is well known that President Me-Kinley positively refused to commit himself to any policy regarding the Philippines until after he had an opportunity to learn what the majority of citizens really wished to have done with the islands. In his trip through the Central Western states he lost no opportunity to inform himself on the subject, and when he returned to Washington he was satisfied that there was but one course to pursue, and that was to Bible in extracting zinc ore from the retain the islands. Not only that, but he has talked with many members of congress, and the fact that a majority of the senators are in favor of permanent occupation of the islands, excepting Cuba, is a vindication of the president's ourse. The president did not take his stand on annexation until he had learned what the country wanted, and having taken his present position, knowing that he was sustained by a majority of the people, he will not take any backward step in discharging the duty which has been clearly defined. The anti-administrationists also take the position that if the Philippines are annexed to the United States, the "open door" policy must be maintained; that all nations must be accorded the same commercial privileges that are granted the merchants and manufacturers of this country. A more absurd proposition was never before placed before an intelligent people. It is free trade run mad. For what is this government paying $20,000,000 to Spain, after having defeated that nation in war, if the advantages to be derived are to be surrendered to every comer? The house of representatives has just passed a bill extending the customs and revenue laws of the United States to the Hawaiian islands, and upon the formal assumption of power in the Philippines the same measure should be applied to those islands. The senate will ratify the action of the house in regard to the Hawallan islands, and will act in the same the Philippines. The only "open door" ed States in the territory acquired unthe right to ship goods in as is now done between the states and territories, and if other nations desire to compete in the new markets let them pay for the privliege as they now do in the United States. If protection is of benefit, which has been proven by actual trade conditions, to one part of the country concentrated by a pneumatic concengoverned by the United States, it is of trator. The experiments are being carbenefit to the others; if free trade is ried on quite successfully on a small damaging to one section, as has also scale,-Advocate. been proven, it will be damaging to all

HAYFEVER DE HEAD THE OFFICE BOY TAKES A TRIP TO NEW YORK.

And Has a Few Interesting Experiences In a Pullman Car En Route, Which He Relates With Some Unwarranted Pride When He Returns

Willie took a vacation a few weeks ago. He is the copy boy on the night watch, and, after the managing editor, rules the office. Now, Willie has not trotted the wide world over. He is a plain, go ahead, every night boy, and the pride, as well as the despair, of the whole office.

So when Willie announced that he was going to New York the office threw up its hands and gasped. The reporters gathered around the adventurer and told him many things; also they gave him advice. The baseball editor, with a singleness of purpose that was touching, took him aside and gave him some valuable hints. Willie, being a little doubtful on the etiquette of Pullman cars, sought information.

"Now, whatever you do you mustn't be a farmer." said the baseball editor in his fatherly way. "If any smart guy

He also told him other things, to all of which advice Willie promised to pay strict regard.

in the fullness of two weeks, he was ready to talk.

"Have any trouble on the train, Willie?" said the baseball editor as he pounded his typewriter. Willie went over very close to the baseball editor and said : "Say, I couldn't get into that hammock. It was too short." "Couldn't, eh? What did you do?"

"I staid up and talked to the conductor. Say, I caught a guy trying to cop my shoes, and I didn't do a thing to him. He said he wanted to shine 'em, but I was dead on to him."

'Well," and the baseball editor looked innocent. "Did you tip him "Say, there's the only place they got

It was this way: When I went to bed, of course I took off some of my clothes. Oh, I was too slick to undress altogether. Something might happen, you know. Well, I took off my coat and vest and threw them across the clothesline that was along near the upper berth. They were pretty heavy, and, of course, pulled the rope a little.
